

PROVIDER VERIFICATION

Network360 is driven by a complex set of data acquired from health plan provider directories and direct data sources. This data undergoes rigorous multi-step processing that includes standardization and matching, to deliver a reliable, comprehensive provider dataset. However, the nature of this multi-source data means that conflicting provider details may be presented, making it difficult to determine the most accurate and up-to-date information. Furthermore, the data available from online provider directories may not be robust enough to deliver information needed to take action; provider records may not contain details such as a primary practice location, contact information, or Medicare participation.

Verified provider information delivers the details needed to make informed decisions and take action.
